Feature Destination:

This month's feature destination is Israel, and AbilityTrip is grateful to the Israel Tourism board for providing accessible information for us to share with our members. Israel is known for its religious and cultural history. Israel is a popular tourist destination, with over 3 million people visiting in 2008 alone. Overall, it is a developed country with a significant amount of information and resources for physically challenged travelers. To learn more about the accessibility of Israel, visit the AbilityTrip Israel page.

AbilityTip of the month:

Before visiting a destination, complete your research and create a "road map" of activities you would like to do. Planning helps confirm that the actual activity is accessible, and gives you more time to enjoy the activity.

In the News...:

AbilityTrip's own, Darren Brehm, was interviewed by Jetiquette, The Sky Steward. Darren discusses the history and mission of AbilityTrip as well as some of the personal travel experiences he has encountered. The interview is available on the website and as a podcast
